Assessment criteria	Knowledge and understanding Students are expected to understand, analyse, and interpret in a critical way selected German literary texts. They are furthermore expected to place them within their historical and sociocultural context, with special attention to their linguistic, rhetorical, argumentative, and intertextual features. Applying knowledge and understanding Students are expected to improve their language analysis skills as a key instrument for understanding and translating texts. They are also expected to strengthen their critical understanding of German-speaking cultures. Autonomy of judgment Students are expected to deploy the most adequate strategies and tools to analyse texts, also activating autonomous learning skills. They are also expected to apply linguistic and cultural notions to text analysis in an autonomous and responsible way, by linking and comparing specific textual, cultural, and ideological aspects and devoting special attention to linguistic, stylistic, and sociocultural elements. Communicating knowledge and understanding

	Students will be expected to strengthen their proficiency in text analysis, paying special attention to linguistic pregnancy and terminological precision in the oral as well as written expression of their learning insights. Capacity to continue learning Students will be expected to acquire an analytical method in order to allow themselves in-depth studies and the development of autonomous learning skills
Final exam and grading criteria	The performance of the students will be assessed through oral exams. The oral colloquium is usually conducted between a candidate and an examiner and consists of a series of questions on each of the course topics (I. translation theories; II. Linguistic and literary analysis of selected German texts and of their Italian translations). It is designed to evaluate the critical skills and methodological knowledge gained by the student, also by taking into account the discussion of papers presented during the course sessions. The performance assessment uses a grading scale from 1/30 to a maximum of '30/30 cum laude'. The Minimum passing grade is 18/30. Reaching a clear view of all the course topics as well as using a correct language terminology will be valued with maximum score. In the event of a full grade (30/30), the Examination Board may grant honours (lode). Mnemonic knowledge of the course topics or not completely appropriate terminology will be valued with intermediate scores. Unknown topics or inappropriate terminology use will be valued, depending on the seriousness of the omissions, with minimal or insufficient scores.
Further information	Office hours are published on the teacher's web page. Time schedules are however subject to change. Students are recommended to check the teacher's web page and the department website for possible variations. Students experiencing difficulty in preparing for the examination may contact the teacher during his/her office hours or request an appointment by email.
