Syllabus
Prerequisites/requirements	Constitutional Law, Private Law Institutions
Expected learning outcomes	The course aims to provide students with the knowledge of the legal discipline of religious bodies and non-profit entities, considered as intermediate subjects of the Italian legal system, who interact with public institutions, with public bodies and private subjects according to the pursuit of the aims of common interest within the nation. The intensification of unexpected forms of multiculturalism has posed new and unexpected problems of a religious-juridical nature. The need to illustrate the news on the subject makes an in-depth study useful which helps students to better understand in depth the importance that ecclesiastical bodies assume in the concordat system, the bodies of religious denominations and non-profit bodies.

Contents	The course aims to provide students with the knowledge of the legal discipline of religious bodies and non-profit organizations. Particular importance will be given to the ecclesiastical body in relation to the reform of the Third Sector (referred to in the Delegated Law no.106 of 6 June 2016 and defined by two legislative decrees (no.112 of 3 July 2017 and no.117 of 3 July 2017 Code of the Third Sector), which significantly redesigns the vast and articulated world of Italian non-profit entities and activities that has emerged since the end of the 1980s.
Course program	Ecclesiastical entities in the concordat system The new role of religious bodies The ecclesiastical body and the reform of the Third Sector The Catholic Church, religions and non-profit organizations The social enterprise managed by the ecclesiastical body Religious associations in the development of the Third sector Social volunteering and the so-called Third sector. Organizational forms of religious inspiration in intercultural society
