

General Information
Academic subject	Hellenistic history
Degree course	LM-84
Curriculum	Scienze storiche e sociali
ECTS credits	6
Compulsory attendance	No
Language	Italian

Subject teacher	Name Surname	Mail address	SSD
	Omar Coloru	omar.coloru@virgilio.it	L-ANT/02

ECTS credits details
Basic teaching activities		L-ANT/02	6

Class schedule
Period	II
Year	I
Type of class	Lecture- workshops

Time management
Hours	150
In-class study hours	42
Out-of-class study hours	108

Academic calendar
Class begins	21 february 2022
Class ends	13 may 2022

Syllabus
Prerequisites/requirements	Knowledge of the main events of Greek History and its sources.
Expected learning outcomes (according to Dublin Descriptors)	Knowledge and understanding The student is expected to learn the main events in Hellenistic history from the death of Alexander the Great to the Roman conquest of Egypt. Applying knowledge and understanding The student is expected to acquire the methodology of historical research on the Hellenistic age with particular attention to the various typologies of sources, both Graeco-Roman and local (Akkadian, Egyptian, Iranian, Indian sources etc.). Making informed judgements and choices Ability to assess the quality of the Hellenistic sources; ability to critically approach modern bibliography on the Hellenistic period. Communicating knowledge and understanding The student is expected to communicate the notions learned during the course in a concise form and to demonstrate command of the technical language of the discipline. Capacities to continue learning Ability to carry out independent research into one of the many aspects of Hellenistic history.
Contents	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>The course is a general introduction to the Hellenistic</li> </ul>

	history and its sources from the death of Alexander the Great to the Roman conquest of Egypt. The course includes sessions devoted to the reading and commentary of literary and epigraphic sources in Italian translation, on specific aspects of the Hellenistic history and civilizations addressed during the lessons.
Course program	Hellenistic history from the death of Alexander to the Roman conquest of Egypt
Bibliography	1) M. Mari, L'età ellenistica. Società, politica, cultura, Roma, Carocci, 2019. 2) F. Landucci, Il testamento di Alessandro. La Grecia dall'Impero ai Regni, Roma-Bari, Laterza, 2014. 3) Texts of ancient authors and epigraphic documents (in translation) discussed during the lessons. For students who will not attend lessons: the same as above, nrs. 1-2. The documents discussed in class will be replaced by the reading of C. Antonetti – S. De Vido, Iscrizioni greche. Un'antologia, Roma, Carocci, 2017, nscriptions n° 52, 59-61, 66-69, 72; reading of the following chapters from M. Giangiulio (ed.), Introduzione alla storia greca, Bologna, Il Mulino, 2021, ch.. XV, XVII, XVIII e XIX.
Notes
Teaching methods	Face-to-face lessons and seminars.
Assessment methods (indicate at least the type written, oral, other)	Final oral examination
Evaluation criteria (Explain for each expected learning outcome what a student has to know, or is able to do, and how many levels of achievement there are.	Knowledge and understanding:  Knowledge of the main events in Hellenistic history; understanding of the complexity of the Hellenistic world and its political, socio-economic and cultural issues. Applying knowledge and understanding.  The student is expected to evaluate the specific qualities of the historical sources and to use them for a correct reconstruction and analysis of historical processes. Making informed judgments and choices.  The student is expected to have acquired the ability to evaluate independently the quality of different historical sources and to critically approach modern bibliography. Communicating knowledge and understanding.  The student is expected to master the technical language of the discipline and correctly name historical actors, phenomena and processes of the Hellenistic period. Capacities to continue learning.  The student is expected to carry out basic documentary and bibliographical research on a specific historical issue.
Further information	Office hours and notices to students are published on the teacher's web page.