General Information on the course
Academic subject	PSYCHOLOGY OF PERSONALITY AND INDIVIDUAL
	DIFFERENCES
Degree course	PSYCHOLOGICAL SCIENCES AND TECHNIQUES
ECTS credits	6
Title of course in Italian	PSICOLOGIA DELLA PERSONALITÀ E DELLE DIFFERENZE		FERENZE
	INDIVIDUALI
Compulsory attendance	NO
Language	ITALIAN (SOME PARTS IN ENGLISH)
Course to a show	Nome Company	Consil address	CCD
Course teacher	Name Surname	Email address	SSD NA PSI /04
	Elvira Brattico	elvira.brattico@uniba.it	M-PSI/01
ECTS credits details	Sector	SSD	ECTS
	11 E/01	M-PSI/01	6
	11 1/01	111131701	1 0
Class schedule
Period	Semester II academic year 2020/2021
Year	П
Type of class	Lecture- workshops in presence and/or online
Time management
Hours measured
In-class study hours	40
Out-of-class study hours	110
A and a wais and a wale w
Academic calendar	March 2021
Class begins Class ends	March 2021
Class ellus	May 2021
Syllabus
Prerequisite requirements
Expected learning outcomes	Knowledge and understanding
F	- Knowledge of the main theories of personality and most common personality tests, which are framed within a biopsychosocial perspective.
	Millim a stopsychosocial perspective.
	Applying knowledge and understanding
	- Use of personality tests and questionnaires.
	Making informed judgements and choices
	- Ability to synthetize the risks related to the use of personality tests.
	Communicating knowledge and understanding
	- Communicating through a personal style and a proper terminology what has been learned during the course

course.

	T
	 Capacities to continue learning Understanding, analysis and processing of texts concerning personality tests, in order to expand one's knowledge autonomously.
Contents	The course aims to introduce the students to main theories of personality and individual differences, with particular reference to: - Theory of tracts - Behaviourism and socio-cognitive theory - Freud and the humanistic approaches - Emotions and motivations - Physiological bases of personality - Individual differences in intelligence, perception and memory - Self and its definition according to different theoretical perspectives - Personality styles - Physiological bases of individual differences - Personality and its role in employment selection - Antisocial personality disorder and psychopathy in adulthood and developmental age
Course program	1 0
Bibliography	 De Beni R., Carretti B., Moè A. & Pazzaglia F. "Psicologia della personalità e delle differenze individuali", Ed. Il Mulino, Bologna. Di Blas L. (2014). "Che cos'è la personalità", Ed. Carocci, Roma. Sabatello U. (2010). "Lo sviluppo antisociale: dal bambino al giovane adulto - Una prospettiva evolutiva e psichiatrico-forense". Ed. Raffaello Cortina Editore, Milano.
Notes	From the book edited by U. Sabatello read only chapters 1-2-3-4 and 10.
Teaching methods	Instruction is mainly teacher centred, in presence and/or online. Some practical classes, seminars (possibly in English) and group work will also take place.
Assessment methods	The assessment consists of an oral or written examination (mandatory). Students will also have the possibility to do a team or individual work (not mandatory) and present orally in front of the class or send a written essay to the instructor. This additional (team or individual) work will give a maximum of extra 4 points which will be added to the final mark.
Further information	During the course all the material, except books, will be distributed by the instructor.

During the course students will receive all the needed teaching material. excluding books (e.g