THE “PHILOSOPHY, POLITICS AND ECONOMICS” (PPE) MASTER PROGRAMME

The MA Programme in Philosophy, Politics and Economics is directed at students who appreciate the importance of an interdisciplinary preparation and want to combine economic analytical and quantitative training with an understanding of contemporary political and social challenges that goes to the deeper philosophical questions. The interdisciplinary and international preparation provided by Bari PPE will lead graduates to pursue both research-based careers and executive roles in academia, public service and business.

The PPE Master Programme has a clear structure, with core courses in all three disciplines and a framework of integration of the philosophical, political and economic approaches.

Students are given the opportunity of spending one semester in a partner university. Expanding one’s horizons will allow our students to specialize according to their own interests while improving their experience and knowledge of European society.

Our programme will provide students with solid foundations and the opportunity to shape their professional profiles in a unique way.
