DECREES

Article 1

Contract of collaboration

A public selection is being held for the stipulation of two Collaboration contracts- with collaborators holding a master degree in Biology/Biotechnology/Medicine or similar degree-in the framework of the Programme PEOPLE Marie Curie Initial training Networks (ITN), research project “NR-NET”-Control of metabolic and inflammatory pathways by nuclear receptors- PITN-GA-2013-606806.

Position:

EARLY-STAGE RESEARCHER (ESR).

The whole budget required to finance the contract will be entirely charged on the above mentioned project funds, whose scientific coordinator is Prof. Antonio Moschetta.

Object of collaboration:

The objective of the collaboration is to unravel the role of the protein peroxisome proliferator-activated receptor gamma co-activator 1-beta (PGC-1beta) in lipid metabolism and mitochondria with relevance to chronic diseases of the gut/liver axis including steato-hepatitis, colitis and colon cancer. In detail, the collaboration will focus on the generation and characterization of hepatic and intestinal specific PGC-1beta "gain" and "loss-of-function" animal models. The collaborators will be devoted to the study of the therapeutic potential of the modulation of PGC-1beta expression in steato-hepatitis development taking advantage of established experimental procedures such as the use of dietary challenge based on administration of high fat and methionine/choline deficient diets. Moreover, the collaborators will study the role of the co-activator PGC-1beta in intestinal epithelium homeostasis and will evaluate the oncogenic or onco-suppressive potential of the modulation of PGC-1beta expression by using procedures to induce colitis and intestinal tumorigenesis. The present collaboration requires generation and maintenance of laboratory animals (mice), administration of nutrients and carcinogenic agents, employment of molecular biology technique to develop gene expression maps along with histology and immunohistochemistry.

Article 2

Duration of the contracts

The contract will last for thirty months. The activities object of the contract will be carried out at the Department of Interdisciplinary Medicine (DIM). If at the contract starting time the remaining duration of the project is less than month thirty, the duration of the partnership will be reduced to the residual duration of the project.
