PROJECT 2: “Modern Italian theatre in the European culture: reception, performing arts and new technologies”

Main objective

The project aims to develop the ability to critically analyse the multidisciplinary and complex nature of the theatrical phenomenon, which entails actor’s gestures, production and scenic representation.

The expected results consist in digitalizing a number of rare or unpublished modern Italian and European theatre texts with a view to promoting and disseminating them through innovative technological applications that make it possible to view film footage and cutting-edge playwriting as well as capture special sound effects
