

Immigration through the lens of British and American politicians: a political and linguistic approach

Overseas best countries to live in policy

Movement going abroad best countries to live in policy

Movement going abroad best countries to live in world policy change permit skilled foreign statistic

immigration

legal driven person during new life language difficulties visa other cultures adaptation other cultures adaptation looking for a better life emigrants migration

what to expect migration settlement
settlement

Department of Political Science

Department of Political Science

| ezza ▼ Strumenti ▼ 🬘 | 9 ▼ &         |  |                       |
|----------------------|----------------------|--|-----------------------|
| Calendario s         | seminari e ma        | nteriale didattico   |                       |
|                      |                      | Corso di Orientamento consapevole 2019:  |                       |
|                      |                      | "La sfida delle migrazioni"  |                       |
| Sede: Dipartiment    | o di Scienze Politic | he - Palazzo del Prete – Piazza C. Battisti 1, Bari 🕒 dalle  | ore 15,00 alle 18,00. |
|                      |                      |  |                       |
| Data                 | Docente              | Argomento  | Aula                  |
|                      |                      |  |                       |
| 04/02/2019lun    | Denise Milizia       | "Immigration through the lens of British and American politicians: a political and linguistic approach". | IV                    |
| Replica 8/2ven   |                      |  | IV                    |
| 11/02/2019lun    | Alida Silletti       | "Le défi migratoire dans le discours politique français".  | IV                    |
| Replica 15/02ven |                      |  | IV                    |
| 18/02/2019lun    | Nalin Egeria         | "Il rispetto dei diritti umani nell'immigrazione"  | Da definire           |

19 Sospensione azioni didattiche

019

tazione Prova pa ogia dei process SPRISE

018

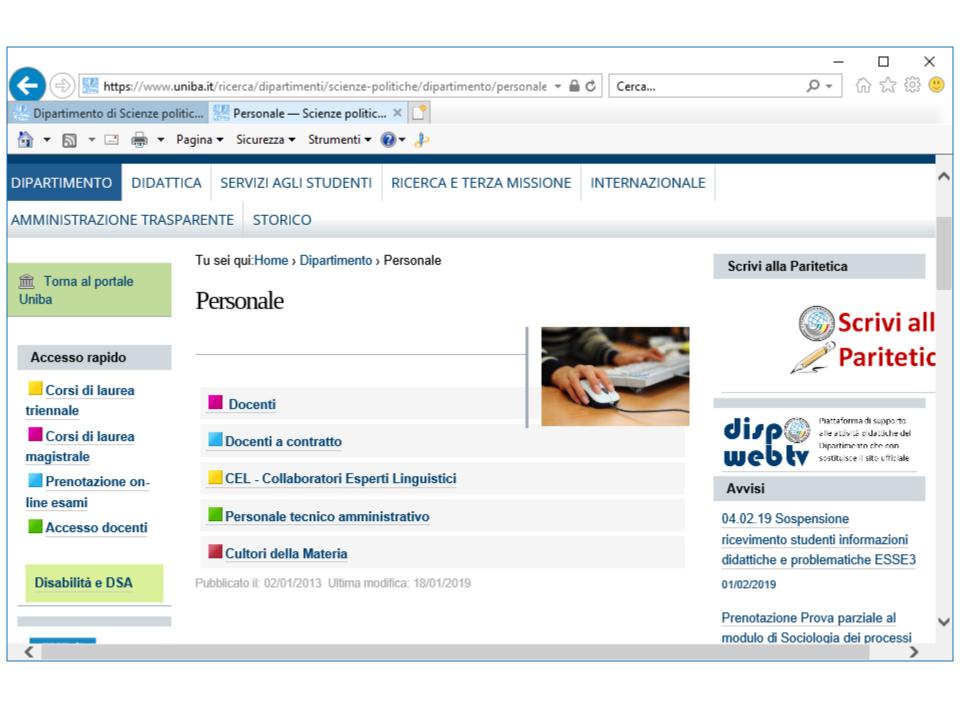

di Lingua e Tra

019 esami di Lingua e (IIº anno corso nnaio a marzo 20

019

18-19 Disattivaz

International and European Studies

Private and Public Administration

Science of Social Service

International and European Studies

Private and Public Administration

Common European Framework of Reference for Languages

B.A. International and European Studies

B.A. Private and Public Administration

B.A. Science of Social Service

B.A. International and European Studies

B.A. Private and Public Administration

B.A. Science of Social Service

M.A. International Relations

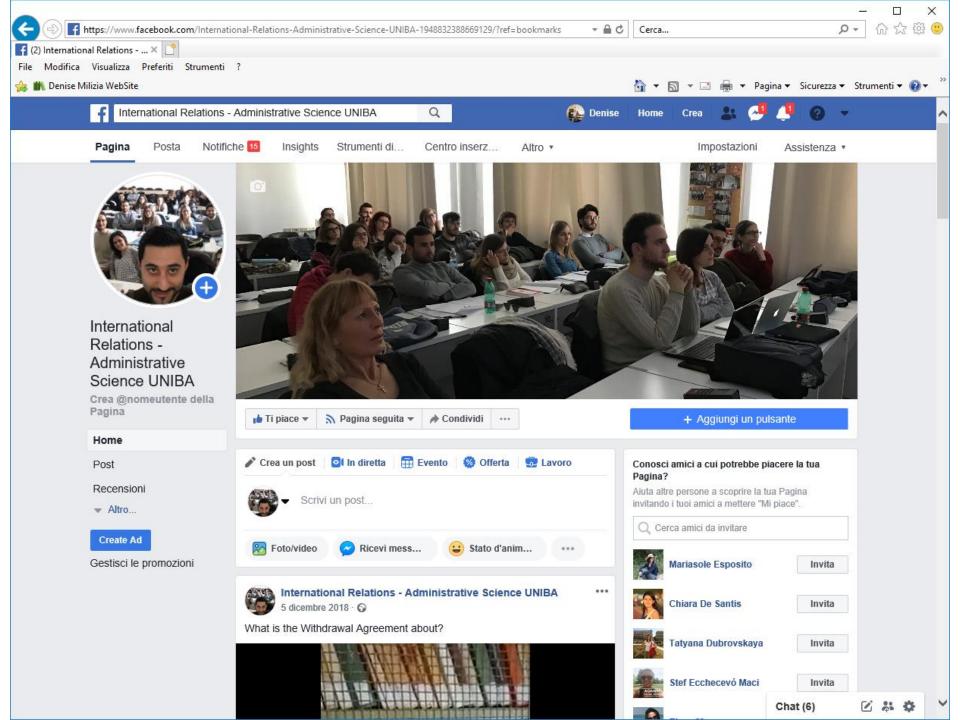

8 CFU

M.A.
Administrative Science

8 CFU

Common European Framework of Reference for Languages

Attendance

Attendance

Highly recommended

1. written test

1. written test

1st esonero

2nd esonero

3rd esonero

1. written test

1st esonero

2nd esonero

3rd esonero

2. oral test

What do we do?

How do we do it?

We study grammar, lexis and phrases through the language of politicians.

Examples taken from real life language use!

We study the language of politics through the language of of politicians.

POLITICAL CORPUS

Examples taken from real life language use!

What is a CORPUS?

POLITICAL CORPUS

A CORPUS is a collection of texts that we can process automatically.

What is a CORPUS?

POLITICAL CORPUS

WRITTEN

SPOKEN

WRITTEN

The Economist

SPOKEN

WRITTEN

theguardian

SPOKEN

WRITTEN

SPOKEN

All the speeches delivered by: George W. Bush (2001-2009) Barack H. Obama (2009-2016)

All the speeches delivered by: George W. Bush (2001-2009) Barack H. Obama (2009-2016)

Donald Trump (2016-today)

SPOKEN Corpus

SPOKEN

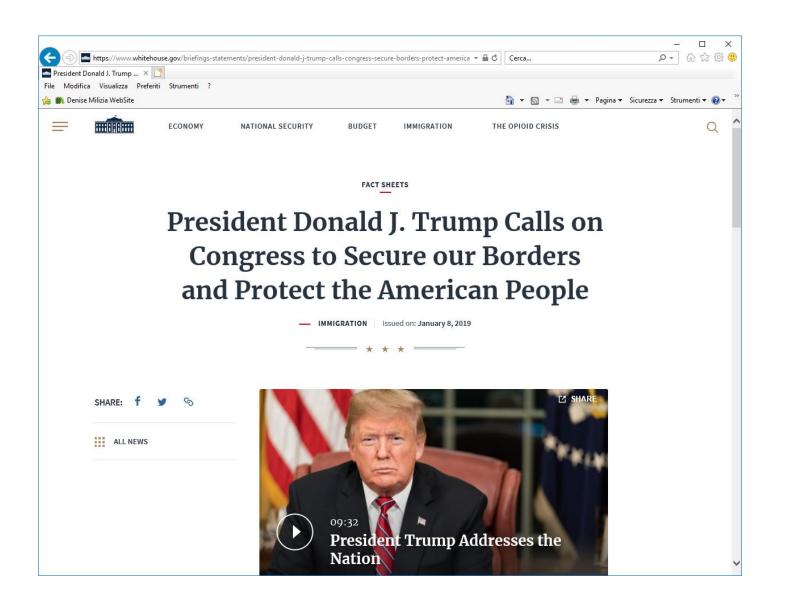

First published during the 2010 to 2015 Consequative and Liberal Democrat coalition government

_ 🗆 ×

Do you think there is a connection between terrorism and immigration?

Do you think there is a connection between Brexit and immigration?

10 Facts About MS-13

First appeared: 1980s

Where: Los Angeles, among El Salvadoran immigrants who fled civil war

MS-13 is short for: Mara Salvatrucha

What states: at least 40, including New York, Virginia, Maryland, plus Washington, D.C.

Other countries: El Salvador, Honduras, Guatemala

Crimes: mainly extortion: also street-level drug trafficking, theft, robbery, murder-for-hire

Motto: "Kill, rape, control"

Distinctive signs: Tattoos, graffiti, hand signs, slang

($) Daily Signal.com

"

[MS-13 has] transformed peaceful parks and beautiful, quiet neighborhoods into blood-stained killing fields.

President Donald Trump

Do you think there is a connection between Brexit and immigration?

Immigrations seems to be the main problem to push Britain toward Brexit.

We study grammar, lexis and phrases through the language of politicians.

Examples taken from real life language use!

How would you translate the following sentences into English?

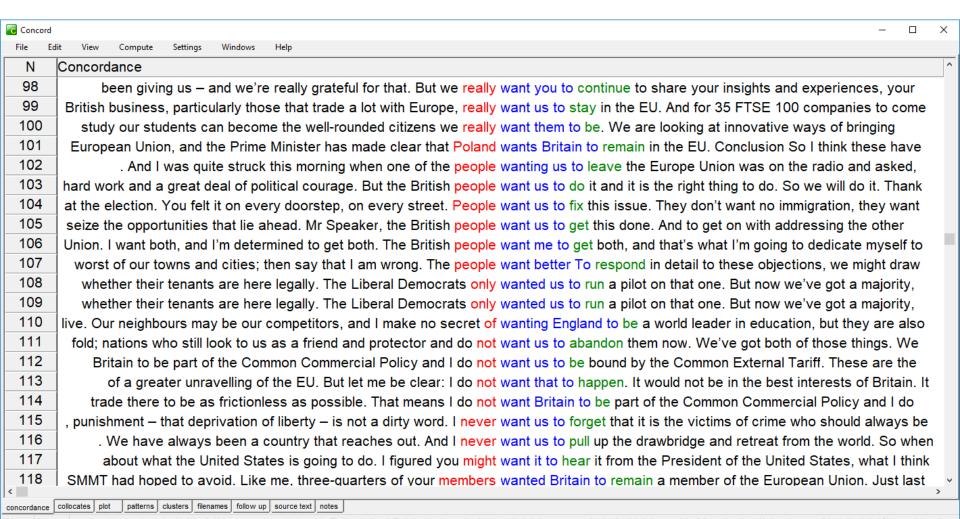

Noi vorremmo che la Gran Bretagna restasse in Europa

La Gran Bretagna vuole eliminare l'immigrazione incontrollata

Lei vuole che la Scozia sia il miglior posto al mondo in cui crescere i bambini.

Objective clause

| Cone     | ord — — X  |
|----------|--|
| File     | Edit View Compute Settings Windows Help  |
| N        | Concordance  |
| 136      | , look I'm saying this because I feel this so strongly. Right? I'm not standing again as Prime Minister and I just want people to know that I am speaking about this issue after thinking about it very, very deeply. After thinking   |
| 137      | manual. And I know it's a situation the SMMT had hoped to avoid. Like me, three-quarters of your members wanted Britain to remain a member of the European Union. Just last week Mike called it "critical" for the future of   |
| 138      | the United States.' So they're voicing an opinion about what the United States is going to do. I figured you might want it to hear it from the President of the United States, what I think the United States is going to do. And on   |
| 139      | under Communism return to the European fold; nations who still look to us as a friend and protector and do not want us to abandon them now. We've got both of those things. We did all that. And imagine if we hadn't been   |
| 140      | as possible. That means I do not want Britain to be part of the Common Commercial Policy and I do not want us to be bound by the Common External Tarifl. These are the elements of the Customs Union that prevent  |
| 141      | , gang leaders – belong in prisons. For me, punishment – that deprivation of liberty – is not a dirty word. I never want us to forget that it is the victims of crime who should always be our principal priority. And I am not  |
| 142      | countries that lost so many years to communism. We have always been a country that reaches out. And I never want us to pull up the drawbridge and retreat from the world. So when it comes to the question of Britain's future   |
| 143      | many fear that this might herald the beginning of a greater unravelling of the EU. But let me be clear: I do not want that to happen. It would not be in the best interests of Britain. It remains overwhelmingly and compellingly   |
| 144      | tariff-free trade with Europe and cross-border trade there to be as frictionless as possible. That means I do not want Britain to be part of the Common Commercial Policy and I do not want us to be bound by the Common   |
| 145      | of the globalised world in which we live. Our neighbours may be our competitors, and I make no secret of wanting England to be a world leader in education, but they are also our partners. The truth is that educational  |
| 146      | the first time we've had landlords checking whether their tenants are here legally. The Liberal Democrats only wanted us to run a pilot on that one. But now we've got a majority, we will roll it out nationwide, and we'll change  |
| 147      | the first time we've had landlords checking whether their tenants are here legally. The Liberal Democrats only wanted us to run a pilot on that one. But now we've got a majority, we will roll it out nationwide, and we'll change  |
| 148      | that we drove through because of our negotiations. And I was quite struck this morning when one of the people wanting us to leave the Europe Union was on the radio and asked, 'Well which regulations is it you want to get   |
| 150      | thousands. It will not be easy. It will take hard work and a great deal of political courage. But the British people want us to do it and it is the right thing to do. So we will do it. Thank you.  |
| 151      | , housing. I think a real concern, it was at the election. You felt it on every doorstep, on every street. People want us to fix this issue. They don't want no immigration, they want balanced immigration, and that's what I wan can bring our country back together and seize the opportunities that lie ahead. Mr Speaker, the British people want us to get this done. And to get on with addressing the other issues they care about. Creating more good |
| 152      | and being a member of the European Union. I want both, and I'm determined to get both. The British people want me to get both, and that's what I'm going to dedicate myself to doing. Question A couple of   |
| 153      | older neighbours. Consider swathes of the worst of our towns and cities: then say that Lam wrong. The people want better To respond in detail to these objections, we might draw on the great philosophers. Plato, through   |
| 154      | a way. I want Britain to stay in a reformed European Union, and the Prime Minister has made clear that Poland wants Britain to remain in the EU. Conclusion So I think these have been excellent discussions. We are 2   |
| 155      | These already reflect a lot of the feedback you've been giving us - and we're reality grateful for that. But we reality want you to continue to share your insights and experiences, your priorities and your concerns. Because we   |
| 156      | the overwhelming view I am getting is that British business, particularly those that trade a lot with Europe, really want us to stay in the EU. And for 35 FTSE 100 companies to come out and say this so clearly as they have   |
| 157      | can complement excellent academic study our students can become the well-rounded citizens we really want them to be. We are looking at innovative ways of bringing character education into schools which includes   |
| 158      | You've heard from Louise who is an inspirational Scottish leader Louise is ambitious for Scotland. She wants Scotland to be the best place in the world for children and young people to grow up. I'm ambitious for  |
| 159      | next person I have to thank. She showed me the ropes, she invested a huge amount of time in my career. She wanted me to do well and she made sure I did. When people ask how I got to be a vice-president of Chase   |
| 160      | that pay for them. On the other, we are part of a broader public dialogue on the issues that those societies want us to address and resolve, and we cannot duck our responsibility to engage in that dialogue by retreating  |
| 161      | way to go; yes, there is more to do. But I think there can be no doubt: Britain is on the right track. Now I don't want us to do anything that sets us on the wrong track. After all, that's really the job description of a Prime   |
| 162      | will be about going further and faster. That is the key to good government. Not just delivery, but renewal. I don't want us to stand still for the next five years. I want us to move forward, taking on more arguments, creating  |
| 163      | territories. This also means that the backstop is now an uncomfortable arrangement for the EU, so they won't want it to come into use, or persist for long if it does. Both sides are now legally committed to using best  |
| 164      | the fullest possible debate. They deserve to hear from businesses large and small, about what you think. I don't want anyone to wake up on June the 24th and feel they weren't given the facts and the figures. If there's that  |
| 165      | and which did not get much coverage on the news were making their voices heard and saying that they wanted things to change. I knew in that moment that Parliament had to deliver for them. But of course that does  |
| 166      | auaction, we had the independence referendum in 2014. The Scottick neonle determined at that time that they wanted Scotland to remain a next of the United Kinadom. The SND at the time caid it was a once in a generation.  |
| concorda | nce collocates plot patterns clusters filenames follow up source text notes  |

How would you translate the following sentences into English?

Da quanto tempo la Gran Bretagna sta cercando di uscire dall'Unione Europea?

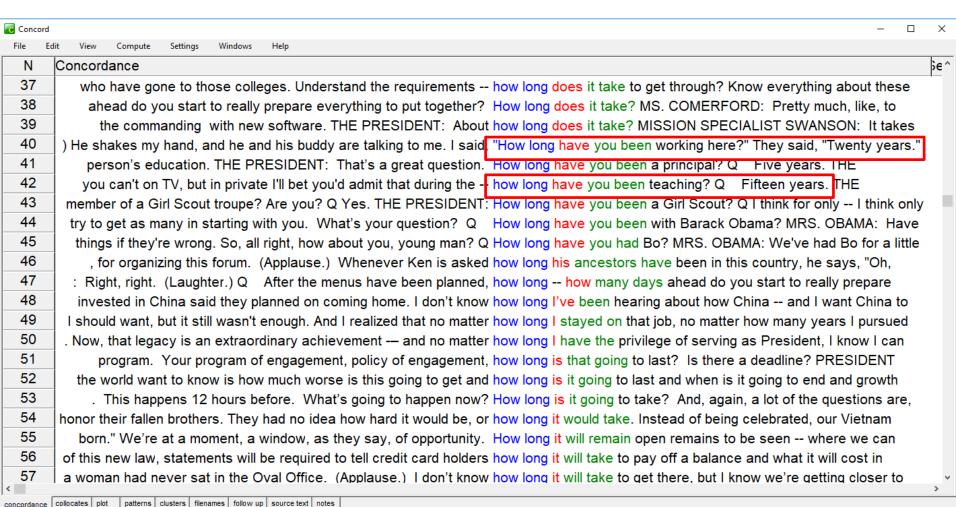

Da quanto tempo Donald Trump è Presidente degli Stati Uniti?

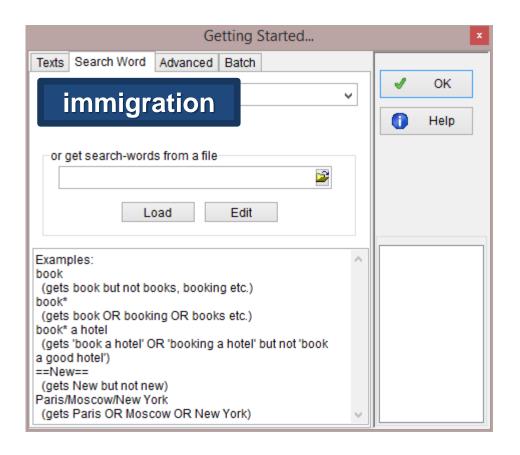

Da quanto tempo lavori qui?

Da vent'anni.

Da quanto tempo insegni un questa università?

Da quindici anni.

_ 🗆 Concord File Edit View Help Compute Windows Concordance us for the past two years they are finally starting to get to grips with immigration. And yet here is their own immigration minister running around telling everyone the flood gates are opening. When they're not. Yes, the 2 Brokenshire seems to think to it's a good idea to pretend his colleagues have spent their time in office letting immigration run amok. Then again, Mr Brokenshire seems to have some other strange ideas about how to 3 . Blimey, I sincerely hope James Brokenshire doesn't catch up with the people responsible for managing immigration policy over the past year. There'll be hell to pay. What is the man thinking? What are Tory 4 thinking? They have been telling us for the past two years they are finally starting to get to grips with immigration. And yet here is their own immigration minister running around telling everyone the flood gates 5 ensure your wage costs are driven up." Again, this is official Conservative Party policy. Their plan is to use immigration policy to artificially drive up service costs, so those of us that use those services have to pay 6 with Acme Cleaners." Seriously, where does this stuff come from? Has our "open and honest debate" about immigration now plumbed such depths that ministers of the crown are actually being sent out to stand up and 7 other strange ideas about how to reach out to electorate. Remember his other offering, "Uncontrolled mass immigration can force wages down and house prices up". OK. Let me get this right. If I vote Tory at the next 8 me get this right. If I vote Tory at the next election Ministers are pledging that they will ensure - through their immigration policies - that the value of my house will fall. Just so we're clear, that's now government policy. 9 make British workers much more competitive. This is madness. Opponents of immigration are fond of saying immigration has been used as a backdoor incomes policy. Well, supporters of tougher migration controls are 10 , has manfully managed to decipher Brokenshire's actual words. Here they are: For too long, the benefits of immigration went to employers who wanted an easy supply of cheap labour, or to the wealthy metropolitan 11 'good' for the country. Well, just like the Home Secretary. I disagree. And some more: Uncontrolled mass immigration can force wages down and house prices up and put pressure on social cohesion and public 12 Congratulations to James Brokenshire, Today be be that single ministerial intervention he is already able to claim the prize for 13 the advanced briefing of the speech. I'm starting foult If you happen to employ a Bulgarian is not racist . Cameron poolitan elitists down the river 15 economy. And it wou Well, supporters of 16 What is immigration? see anythin conversation 17 undermining s kenshire had 18 market and p are fed up with 19 , you have uncontrol vant a government 20 know who is here, and whether nt. housing, education, 21 be stronger. Our 'one nation' approach will be ne further measures we'll pursue, will focus in appalling conditions on pitiful wages. We are for them. We are for working pe ... own in government, we can be stronger. Our 'one nation' approach will be 23 : 21 May 2015 Part of: Immigration and borders David Cameron discussed government plans to control immigration ahead of the Queen's Speech. Two weeks ago the people of Britain spoke. They voted for a 24 on: 21 May 2015 (Original script, may differ from delivered version) First published: 21 May 2015 Part of: Immigration and borders David Cameron discussed government plans to control immigration ahead of the taxes, better schools, more homes, an improved NHS. Included in those demands was something else: immigration properly controlled. That desire is in no way at odds with how proud we are of our diversity: Poles of all backgrounds - voted for. And they were right to do so. Why is it right? Because if you have uncontrolled immigration, you have uncontrolled pressure on public services. And that raises basic issues of fairness. 27 our country strong. So while a strong country isn't one that pulls up the drawbridge - it is one that controls immigration. That's what people - people of all backgrounds - voted for. And they were right to do so. Why is . In our manifesto we said we'd make sure those who deal with the public will speak our language — and our Immigration Bill will deliver on that too. So that's our stronger approach: filling the shortages with our own so we always know exactly where they are. Immigration and labour market rules Secondly, we will reform our immigration and labour market rules - reducing the demand for skilled workers, and cracking down on those 30 through it all, we remain open to the world's best talent. EU renegotiation But to truly succeed in controlling immigration, we also need the third part of this approach; reducing the incentives for people coming here from 31 success, immigration needs to be controlled. After all, that was the clear instruction at the election. With this Immigration Bill, with these other measures, with our EU renegotiations, and with a fully conservative 32 the most successful multiracial democracies in the world. I am so proud of that. But to sustain that success, immigration needs to be controlled. After all, that was the clear instruction at the election. With this 33 do - the 3 things I want to talk about today. And I can announce that we will push them forward with a new Immigration Taskforce, one which I will chair, and which will hold every part of government to account on our 34 those who shouldn't be here, by rooting out illegal immigrants and boosting deportations. 2. Reforming our immigration and labour market rules, so we reduce the demand for skilled migrant labour and crack down on 35 which I will chair, and which will hold every part of government to account on our relentless drive to control immigration. Illegal migrants So first: dealing with those who shouldn't be here. That starts with making due to be deported, we will introduce satellite tracking tags, so we always know exactly where they are. Immigration and labour market rules Secondly, we will reform our immigration and labour market rules -37 and you're not meant to be here, you have to go home before you can appeal. Next we will extend that to all immigration appeals, except asylum cases. That's a big step: preventing people from staying on and on with 38 PM speech on immigration From: Prime Minister's Office, 10 Downing Street, The Rt Hon David Cameron MP and Home 39 hand, and immigration policy on the other. So, welfare and training reform are a key part of our approach to immigration. Indeed, one of the problems that government has had in the past when it comes to immigration been getting this issue and this vital connection between welfare reform and training on the one hand, and immigration policy on the other. So, welfare and training reform are a key part of our approach to immigration. to fill vacancies in our economy. Put simply, our job is to educate and train up our youth not to rely on immigration to fill the skills gaps. Consider this: even at the end of the so-called boom years, there were approach to immigration. Indeed, one of the problems that government has had in the past when it comes to immigration is that it's been working in silos. Controlling immigration has been a job for the Home Office, but collocates plot patterns clusters filenames follow up source text notes concordance Set

Concord File Edit View Compute Settings Windows Help Ν Concordance 124 we can reclaim our borders and send illegal immigrants home. So that is how we're going to get a grip of immigration in this country: real limits, proper enforcement, real control over how many people come here and 125 start with the system we inherited when the Coalition Government was formed. Under the last government, immigration in this country, as I've said, was too high and out of control. Put simply. Britain was a soft touch. 126 we should actually be rolling up that red carpet, and showing them the door. So, that's how we're changing immigration in this country. Getting net migration down radically. Making sure that the people who come here 127 hand, and immigration policy on the other. So, welfare and training reform are a key part of our approach to immigration. Indeed, one of the problems that government has had in the past when it comes to immigration 128 could not carry on like this. So today I want to set out the new approach this government is taking to control immigration into this country. An approach that ensures a hard-headed selection of genuinely talented 129 and I am determined to deliver on this agenda in government. So let me tell you how I see it. Yes, sone immigration is a good thing. It is right that we should attract the brightest and the best to Britain. We 130 . As Martin Woll, the chief economics commentator of the financial times, says; 'The desirability of sizeable immigration is a matter more of values than of economics. It is not a choice between wealth and poverty, but 131 The Coalition's priority continues to be growth and building a stronger economy. I'm clear that well-managed immigration is a key part of that. [Political content removed]. People's anxieties are not, generally-speaking, 132 in the past. And it can do so again in the future. That is what our policies are intended to do. But uncontrolled immigration is bad for our economy and it is bad for our society. It puts pressure on the public services that 133 , I want to set out some of the areas where we now need to go further in tackling abuse and ensuring the timmigration is controlled. Immigration needs to be controlled and I'm absolutely focused on this. So let me 134 families, as well as ethnic minority communities and recent immigrants themselves. So uncontrolled, mass immigration is damaging to social cohesion, puts pressure on public services and infrastructure, and can lead 135 over the last year has benefited British workers, not migrant workers as has happened in the past, Net immigration is down by one quarter in a single year. The visa statistics suggest further falls in net immigration 136 most sudden and sustained increase in immigration will suffer the most. The third reason we need to control immigration is its effects on jobs and wages. Again, when we arrived in government, we found that the official 137 Allowing more and more immigration would make that immossible. The second reason we need to control immigration is its impact on infrastructure and public services. It seems obvious that immigration should have 138 will create new British jobs, because we are in a global race for our economic future. And the right sort of immigration is not just good for Britain - it is, I would argue, essential. But we can't allow immigration to be a 139 see anything about him being an elitist who was undermining social cohesion. • Worrying about mass immigration is not racist • Cameron has failed on his immigration promise • We need a calm conversation 140 and help prevent Article 8 of the European Convention on Human Rights being misinterpreted. Now, of course immigration is not just about people coming to live here for a while. Some will want to settle and then join us 141 an immigration system that does not work in the national interest. But to say we want to reduce and control immigration is not to say that we want no immigration. We have always been clear that we want Britain to 142 is and I know this is an issue that people feel really passionately about and I know the debate around immigration is not always a healthy one. It often swings between extremes, between those who argue 143 the advanced briefing of the speech, I'm starting to think it may well have been. Brokenshire's thesis is thi . Immigration is out of control. And that's all my fault. And your fault. If you happen to employ a Bulgarian 144 . Immigration is out of control Net inward migration in the last year was nearly 200,000. Between 1997 and I want to talk about the challenge we face and set out the context in which we are taking our decision 145 reflecting our openness as an economy and society, our liberalism and our tolerance. So managed we , immigration is something that can bring great benefits. But managed poorly, it is something that can cause 146 approach to immigration. Indeed, one of the problems that government has had in the past when it comes to immigration is that it's been working in silos. Controlling immigration has been a job for the Home Office, but 147 attracts the brightest and the best people who can make a real difference to the country's economic growt .immigration is too high. In the long term we should up-skill British workers so that we do not need as many 148 know who is here, and whether they should have gone home, and said to all parts of government; controlling immigration isn't just a job for the Home Office – it's a job for health, employment, housing, education, 149 that we want to see. But too often in the past the family route has been abused as a means to bypass our immigration laws. And too often, we have seen family migrants without the means to support themselves, 150 of the problem, because many victims are unwilling to speak out. Forced marriage is not only an abuse of our immigration laws, but is a breach of human rights and a form of violence against victims. This Government is 151 the level of immigration to a sustainable number is one of the big tasks of this Government. The uncontrolled immigration levels of the previous decade led to a loss of public confidence, strain on public services, and an 152 focus on who is qualifying under each section of our imenvices, and stop immigration being such a delicate 153 in this country. In recent years we Is it a good thing? we should reach for more 154 bonds that turn the place on, where almost half of 155 as a political trick nsensus on how 156 committee found ılt is lower 157 market and pus are fed up with Is it a bad thing? 158 displaces British wor our economy and 159 ore to claim the prize for 160 I want to start by looking briefly at the past, a v in this role, Immigration history Nearly 161 child detention The Government is committed to ending the detention of be reading a wide-ranging review to achieve this, setting out plans in 162 I think what is good about it is it's the fruit of a process I set up months ago, where I put Mark Harper, the Immigration Minister, in charge of a whole Committee in Whitehall that's got the Health Minister, the Housing 163 us for the past two years they are finally starting to get to grips with immigration. And yet here is their own immigration minister running around telling everyone the flood gates are opening. When they're not. Yes, the 164 the country. And where people need a translator to interact with services... I've asked Mark Harper, the Immigration Minister, to look at whether we could refer them onto an English language course. And, if people as read that they are both wrong, and that the legitimate question in today's world is how can we benefit from immigration. My answer is that we are building, as fast as we can, an immigration system which is smarter. patterns | clusters | filenames | follow up | source text | notes concordance can change the law so that wherever possible people are deported first and they can appeal second from their home country. Put simply, when it comes to illegal migrants, we should actually be rolling up that red carget, and showing them the door. So,

Concord File Edit View Compute Settings Windows Help Ν Concordance 124 we can reclaim our borders and send illegal immigrants home. So that is how we're going to get a grip of immigration in this country; real limits, proper enforcement, real control over how many people come here and 125 start with the system we inherited when the Coalition Government was formed. Under the last government, immigration in this country, as I've said, was too high and out of control. Put simply. Britain was a soft touch. 126 we should actually be rolling up that red carpet, and showing them the door. So, that's how we're changing immigration in this country. Getting net migration down radically. Making sure that the people who come here 127 hand, and immigration policy on the other. So, welfare and training reform are a key part of our approach to immigration. Indeed, one of the problems that government has had in the past when it comes to immigration 128 could not carry on like this. So today I want to set out the new approach this government is taking to control immigration into this country. An approach that ensures a hard-headed selection of genuinely talented 129 and I am determined to deliver on this agenda in government. So let me tell you how I see it. Yes, some immigration is a good thing. It is right that we should attract the brightest and the best to Britain. We 130 . As Martin Woll, the chief economics commentator of the financial times, says; 'The desirability of sizeable immigration is a matter more of values than of economics. It is not a choice between wealth and poverty, but 131 The Coalition's priority continues to be growth and building a stronger economy. I'm clear that well-managed immigration is a key part of that. [Political content removed]. People's anxieties are not, generally-speaking. 132 in the past. And it can do so again in the future. That is what our policies are intended to do. But uncontrolled immigration is bad for our economy and it is bad for our society. It puts pressure on the public services that 133 , I want to set out some of the areas where we now need to go further in tackling abuse and ensuring the timmigration is controlled. Immigration needs to be controlled and I'm absolutely focused on this. So let me 134 families, as well as ethnic minority communities and recent immigrants themselves. So uncontrolled, mass immigration is damaging to social cohesion, puts pressure on public services and infrastructure, and can lead 135 over the last year has benefited British workers, not migrant workers as has happened in the past, Net immigration is down by one quarter in a single year. The visa statistics suggest further falls in net immigration 136 most sudden and sustained increase in immigration will suffer the most. The third reason we need to control immigration is its effects on jobs and wages. Again, when we arrived in government, we found that the official 137 Allowing more and more immigration would make that immossible. The second reason we need to control immigration is its impact on infrastructure and public services. It seems obvious that immigration should have 138 will create new British jobs, because we are in a global race for our economic future. And the right sort of immigration is not just good for Britain - it is, I would argue, essential. But we can't allow immigration to be a 139 see anything about him being an elitist who was undermining social cohesion. • Worrying about mass immigration is not racist • Cameron has failed on his immigration promise • We need a calm conversation 140 and help prevent Article 8 of the European Convention on Human Rights being misinterpreted. Now, of course immigration is not just about people coming to live here for a while. Some will want to settle and then join us 141 an immigration system that does not work in the national interest. But to say we want to reduce and control immigration is not to say that we want no immigration. We have always been clear that we want Britain to 142 is and I know this is an issue that people feel really passionately about and I know the debate around immigration is not always a healthy one. It often swings between extremes, between those who argue 143 the advanced briefing of the speech. I'm starting to think it may well have been. Brokenshire's thesis is this. Immigration is out of control. And that's all my fault. And your fault. If you happen to employ a Bulgarian 144 I want to talk about the challenge we face and set out the context in which we are taking our decision . Immigration is out of control Net inward migration in the last year was nearly 200,000. Between 1997 and 145 reflecting our openness as an economy and society, our liberalism and our tolerance. So managed we immigration is something that can bring great benefits. But managed poorly, it is something that can cause 146 approach to immigration. Indeed, one of the problems that government has had in the past when it comes to immigration is that it's been working in silos. Controlling immigration has been a job for the Home Office, but 147 attracts the brightest and the best people who can make a real difference to the country's economic growt .immigration is too high. In the long term we should up-skill British workers so that we do not need as many 148 know who is here, and whether they should have gone home, and said to all parts of government: controlling immigration isn't just a job for the Home Office – it's a job for health, employment, housing, education, 149 that we want to see. But too often in the past the family route has been abused as a means to bypass our immigration laws. And too often, we have seen family migrants without the means to support themselves, 150 of the problem, because many victims are unwilling to speak out. Forced marriage is not only an abuse of our immigration laws, but is a breach of human rights and a form of violence against victims. This Government is 151 the level of immigration to a sustainable number is one of the big tasks of this Government. The uncontrolled immigration levels of the previous decade led to a loss of public confidence, strain on public services, and an 152 focus on who is qualifying under each section of and stop immigration being such a delicate How do these politicians conceive 153 in this country. In recent-Leach for more 154 bonds that tu most half of 155 as a r and perceive immigration in their 156 commit 157 mark 158 displaces 159 country? ne prize for 160 I want to start by looking briefly at the ore. Immigration history Nearly 161 child detention The Government is committed to ending the aecent ng a wide-ranging review to achieve this, setting out plans in 162 I think what is good about it is it's the fruit of a process I set up months ago, where I put Mark Harper, the Immigration Minister, in charge of a whole Committee in Whitehall that's got the Health Minister, the Housing 163 us for the past two years they are finally starting to get to grips with immigration. And yet here is their own immigration minister running around telling everyone the flood gates are opening. When they're not. Yes, the 164 the country. And where people need a translator to interact with services... I've asked Mark Harper, the Immigration Minister, to look at whether we could refer them onto an English language course. And, if people as read that they are both wrong, and that the legitimate question in today's world is how can we benefit from immigration. My answer is that we are building, as fast as we can, an immigration system which is smarter. clusters | filenames | follow up | source text | notes can change the law so that wherever possible people are deported first and they can appeal second from their home country. Put simply, when it comes to illegal migrants, we should actually be rolling up that red carget, and showing them the door. So,

Conc 19 19 19 195 196

Windows Help

is this: that the approach that's been taken to immigration in Arizona I think has not always been as productive as alled America. One of the largest waves of immigration in our history took place little more than a century ago. mall part of a broader challenge that we have. Immigration in this country has always been complicated. The truth trafficking, but also trafficking in persons, and containment of illegal immigration. In this respect we thank you for your support that is to how we think about immigration. If you look at the history of immigration in this country, each successive wave, there have been that we confront, every one of the barriers -- whether it's education, immigration, infrastructure -- that prevent us from being as problems around. I believe that the problems have to do with illegal immigration, internal turbulence in various countries, and even, But what about hopeful families that are seeking a legal pathway for immigration into the U.S. but are finding seven- to ten-year delays I believe that the long-term solution to the challenge of illegal immigration is a growing and prosperous Mexico that creates more system, but when I look out at what's happening in Virginia, our immigration is a strength not a weakness. (Applause.) That's a Senate. All of these business leaders recognize the degree to which immigration is a contributor to growth, a contributor to expansion, a put more resources, more personnel on the borders, and illegal immigration is actually down on the borders, not up. I know that's not time for our country. Because the fact is, America needs you. Immigration is at the heart of how we developed as a nation. In in personnel and technology to securing our border. Illegal immigration is down, not up, and we will continue to do what's immigration reform -- people agree with us; they know that immigration is going to help drive this economy forward. Equal pay kids are lost in the system. I don't think that's fair. I know, you know, immigration is illegal, but we have to keep the families together. it excludes those who are able and willing to help us compete." So immigration is not just the right thing to do. It's smart for our economy over time. And when you think about what's at stake right now, immigration is obviously a major issue. Climate change -- most of new arrivals - we are born of immigrants. That is who we are. Immigration is our origin story. And for more than two centuries, it's a model for the nation and has suggested that the main solution for immigration is self-deportation. So the issue here for voters -- whose : Well, José, let me start by just talking generally about why immigration is so important and why we've got to fix a broken system.

from their part of the world as to how we treat them. That's why immigration is so important in the conduct of foreign policy. Our referring to Arizona as a model for the nation. His top advisor on immigration is the guy who designed the Arizona law, the entirety of it

214

File

197

198

199

200

201

202

203

204

205

206

207

208

209

210

211

212

213 follow up source text notes filenames

new\2014\November 2014\11.25.2014 - Remarks by the President on Immigration, Chicago.txt

dows Help

ance, nothing of benefit results from destructive acts. I've never seen a civil rights law, or a health care bill, or an immigration bill happened because people vote. It happened because people organize. It happens because cies to solve the problem. That's how you actually move something forward. (Applause.)

So don't take the short term, easy, oute and just engage in destructive behavior. Take the long-term, hard but lasting route of working with me and governors and state officials to bring about some real change.

And to those who think that what happened in Ferguson is an excuse for violence, I do not have any sympathy for that. (Applause.) I have no sympathy at all for destroying your own communities. But for the overwhelming majority of people who just feel frustrated and pain because they get a sense that maybe some communities aren't treated fairly, or some individuals aren't seen as worthy as others, I understand that. And I want to work with you and I want to move forward with you. Your President will be right there with you.

AUDIENCE MEMBER: Thank you, Mr. President!

THE PRESIDENT: All right? So that's what we need to focus on. (Applause.) Let's be constructive.

I appreciate your patience, because I know you came here to talk about immigration. But this is relevant, because part of what America is about is stitching together folks from different backgrounds and different faiths and different ethnicities. That's what makes us special. (Applause.) And, look, let's face it, sometimes that's hard. Sometimes that's hard to do. But it's worthwhile, it's worth doing.

If you go to -- I was just traveling in Asia -- you go to Japan, they don't have problems with certain folks being discriminated against because mostly everybody is Japanese. (Laughter.) You know? But here, part of what's wonderful about America is also what makes our democracy hard sometimes, because sometimes we get attached to our particular tribe, our particular race, our particular religion, and then we start treating other folks differently.

And that, sometimes, has been a bottleneck to how we think about immigration. If you look at the history of immigration in this country, each successive wave, there have been periods where the folks who were already here suddenly say, well, I don't want those folks. Even though the only people who have the right to say that are some Native Americans. (Applause.)

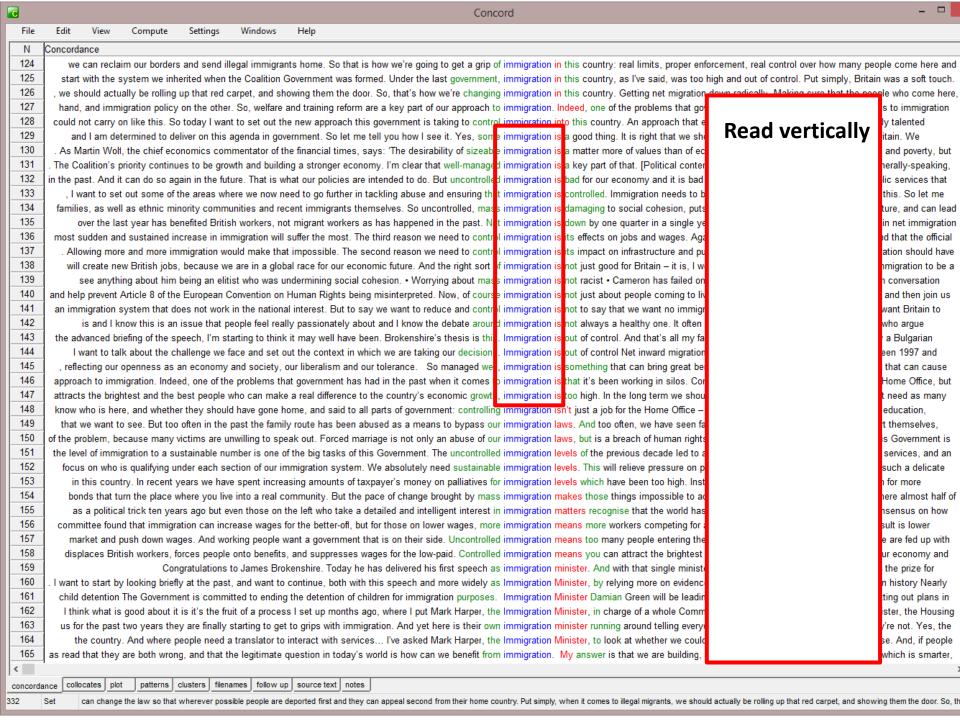

Now, it is fitting that I've come here, back home to Chicago. Because Chicago has always been a city of immigrants. And that's still true in the neighborhoods that define this city. (Applause.) Especially on the North Side up here. I mean, there's -- (laughter.) We got everything up here. (Laughter.)

No, you go to the public schools around here and you got 50, 60, 70 different languages being spoken. From Andersonville to Chinatown; from Devon to Greektown; Pilsen to Ukrainian Village -- immigrants have made this city of broad shoulders their home. We are Swedish and Polish and German and Italian. Everybody is Irish on St. Patrick's Day. (Laughter and applause.)

We've got names like Pat Quinn, our Governor -- (applause) -- and Luis Gutierrez, our Congressman -- (applause) -- Jan Schakowsky, another Congresswoman -- (applause) -- Brad Schneider, Congressman. (Applause.) Rahm Emanuel -- (applause.) All mixed up. (Laughter.) I don't mean Rahm. I mean all of us, together. (Laughter.) It is true that Rahm speaks a language that can't be translated in front of children. (Laughter.) Although he's a mayor now, so he doesn't do that anymore, I'm sure. (Laughter.)

Anyone who's driven along the Kennedy has seen the silhouettes of steeples jabbing at the sky -- steeples as diverse as the houses of worship that they belong to, and

concordance collocates plot patterns clusters filenames follow up source text notes

| •        | Concord  |                  |                 |                                      |                         |                                       |                    |  |                 |                      |  |
|----------|--|------------------|-----------------|--------------------------------------|-------------------------|---------------------------------------|--------------------|--|-----------------|----------------------|--|
| File     | Edit View  | Compute          | Settings        | Windows                              | Help                    |                                       |                    |  |                 |                      |  |
| N        | Concordance  |                  |                 |                                      |                         |                                       |                    |  |                 |                      |  |
| 124      | we can reclaim our borders and send illegal immigrants home. So that is how we're going to get a grip of immigration in this country: real limits, proper enforcement, real control over how many people come here and   |                  |                 |                                      |                         |                                       |                    |  |                 |                      |  |
| 125      | start with the system we inherited when the Coalition Government was formed. Under the last government, immigration in this country, as I've said, was too high and out of control. Put simply, Britain was a soft touch.  |                  |                 |                                      |                         |                                       |                    |  |                 |                      |  |
| 126      | , we should actually be rolling up that red carpet, and showing them the door. So, that's how we're changing immigration in this country. Getting net migration down radically. Making cure that the people who come here  |                  |                 |                                      |                         |                                       |                    |  |                 |                      |  |
| 127      | hand, and immigration policy on the other. So, welfare and training reform are a key part of our approach to immigration. Indeed, one of the problems that go  |                  |                 |                                      |                         |                                       |                    |  |                 |                      |  |
| 128      | could not carry on like this. So today I want to set out the new approach this government is taking to control immigration into this country. An approach that e   |                  |                 |                                      |                         |                                       |                    |  |                 | ly talented          |  |
| 129      | and I am de  | termined to d    | eliver on this  | agenda in gov                        | ernment. So let me t    | tell you how I see it. Yes, sor       | re immigration is  | a good thing. It is right that we sh   | Read vertically | itain. We            |  |
| 130      | . As Martin Wol  | f, the chief ec  | onomics com     | mentator of tl                       | he financial times, sa  | ays: 'The desirability of sizeal      | e immigration is   | a matter more of values than of ed     |                 | and poverty, but     |  |
| 131      | . The Coalition's  | priority contin  | ues to be gro   | wth and buildi                       | ng a stronger econor    | my. I'm clear that well-manag         | d immigration is   | a key part of that. [Political conte   | r               | nerally-speaking,    |  |
| 132      | in the past. And it  | t can do so a    | gain in the fut | ure. That is w                       | hat our policies are i  | intended to do. But uncontroll        | d immigration is   | bad for our economy and it is bad      |                 | lic services that    |  |
| 133      | , I want to se   | t out some of    | the areas wh    | controlled. Immigration needs to b   | R                       | this. So let me                       |                    |  |                 |                      |  |
| 134      | families, as wel   | ll as ethnic m   | inority comm    | unities and re                       | cent immigrants ther    | mselves. So uncontrolled, ma          | s immigration is   | damaging to social cohesion, put       |                 | ture, and can lead   |  |
| 135      | over the la  | st year has b    | enefited Britis | sh workers, no                       | ot migrant workers as   | s has happened in the past. N         | t immigration is   | down by one quarter in a single y      | E               | in net immigration   |  |
| 136      | most sudden an   | d sustained i    | ncrease in im   | migration will                       | suffer the most. The    | third reason we need to cont          | r I immigration is | ts effects on jobs and wages. Ag       |                 | nd that the official |  |
| 137      | . Allowing mor   | e and more ir    | nmigration wo   | ould make tha                        | t impossible. The se    | cond reason we need to cont           | rel immigration is | ts impact on infrastructure and p      | Α               | ation should have    |  |
| 138      | will create ne   | w British jobs   | s, because we   | e are in a glob                      | al race for our econo   | omic future. And the right sort       | f immigration is   | not just good for Britain – it is, I w | 7 `      | nmigration to be a   |  |
| 139      | see anyth  | ing about him    | being an elit   | ist who was u                        | ndermining social co    | hesion. • Worrying about ma           | s immigration is   | not racist • Cameron has failed or     | D               | n conversation       |  |
| 140      | and help prevent   | Article 8 of th  | e European C    | Convention on                        | Human Rights being      | misinterpreted. Now, of cour          | e immigration is   | not just about people coming to li     | _               | and then join us     |  |
| 141      | an immigration :   | system that d    | loes not work   | in the nationa                       | al interest. But to say | y we want to reduce and cont          | r I immigration is | not to say that we want no immig       | г               | want Britain to      |  |
| 142      | is and I k   | now this is ar   | n issue that p  | eople feel real                      | lly passionately abou   | ut and I know the debate arou         | rd immigration is  | not always a healthy one. It often     |                 | who argue            |  |
| 143      | the advanced br  | riefing of the s | peech, I'm st   | arting to think                      | it may well have be     | en. Brokenshire's thesis is th        | . Immigration is   | out of control. And that's all my fa   | V               | a Bulgarian          |  |
| 144      | I want to ta   | lk about the o   | hallenge we f   | ace and set o                        | ut the context in whi   | ich we are taking our decisior        | . Immigration is   | out of control Net inward migration    |                 | een 1997 and         |  |
| 145      | , reflecting our   | openness as      | an economy      | and society,                         | our liberalism and ou   | ır tolerance. So managed we           | , immigration is   | something that can bring great be      | E               | that can cause       |  |
| 146      | approach to imn  | nigration. Inde  | ed, one of the  | e problems th                        | at government has h     | ad in the past when it comes          | o immigration is   | that it's been working in silos. Co    | r               | Home Office, but     |  |
| 147      | attracts the brig  | htest and the    | best people v   | who can make                         | e a real difference to  | the country's economic grow           | , immigration is   | too high. In the long term we shoເ     | R               | t need as many       |  |
| 148      | know who is he   | re, and wheth    | er they shoul   | n't just a job for the Home Office – |                         | education,                            |                    |  |                 |                      |  |
| 149      | that we want t   | o see. But to    | often in the    | T                                    | t themselves,           |                                       |                    |  |                 |                      |  |
| 150      | of the problem, be   | ecause many      | · ·             | is Government is                     |                         |                                       |                    |  |                 |                      |  |
| 151      | the level of immi  | gration to a s   | ustainable nu   | vels of the previous decade led to   |                         | services, and an                      |                    |  |                 |                      |  |
| 152      | focus on who   | is qualifying ι  | ınder each se   | ction of our in                      | nmigration system. \    | We absolutely need sustainal          | ole immigration le | vels. This will relieve pressure on p  | _               | such a delicate      |  |
| 153      | in this coun   | try. In recent   | years we hav    | e spent increa                       | asing amounts of tax    | payer's money on palliatives          | for immigration le | vels which have been too high. Ins     | C               | n for more           |  |
| 154      | 1  |                  |                 |                                      |                         |                                       | -                  | akes those things impossible to a      | 4               | nere almost half of  |  |
| 155      |  | -                | -               |                                      |                         | -                                     | -                  | atters recognise that the world ha     | Α               | nsensus on how       |  |
| 156      | committee four   | nd that immig    | ration can inc  | rease wages t                        | for the better-ofl, but | for those on lower wages, mo          | re immigration m   | eans more workers competing for        |                 | sult is lower        |  |
| 157      | 1  |                  | •               |                                      | •                       |                                       | •                  | eans too many people entering the      |          | e are fed up with    |  |
| 158      | displaces Brit   |                  |                 |                                      |                         | -                                     | -                  | eans you can attract the brightest     | _               | ur economy and       |  |
| 159      |  |                  | -               |                                      | •                       | · · · · · · · · · · · · · · · · · · · | -                  | inister. And with that single minist   |          | the prize for        |  |
| 160      |  | -                |                 |                                      |                         |                                       | _                  | inister, by relying more on evidenc    | •               | n history Nearly     |  |
| 161      | 1  |                  |                 |                                      | ,                       |                                       | •                  | inister Damian Green will be leadii    | • •             | ting out plans in    |  |
| 162      | 1  |                  |                 |                                      |                         |                                       |                    | inister, in charge of a whole Comn     | •               | ster, the Housing    |  |
| 163      |  |                  |                 |                                      |                         | •                                     | -                  | inister running around telling every   | •               | re not. Yes, the     |  |
| 164      | ,  |                  |                 |                                      |                         |                                       |                    | inister, to look at whether we could   | 1               | se. And, if people   |  |
| 165      | as read that they  | are both wro     | ng, and that t  | he legitimate                        | question in today's v   | vorld is how can we benefit fro       | m immigration. I   | My answer is that we are building,     |                 | which is smarter,    |  |
| <        |  |                  |                 |                                      |                         |                                       |                    |  |                 | :                    |  |
| concorda | nce collocates plo   | patterns         | clusters filen  | ames follow up                       | source text notes       | J                                     |                    |  |                 |                      |  |
| 332      | Set can change the law so that wherever possible people are deported first and they can appeal second from their home country. Put simply, when it comes to illegal migrants, we should actually be rolling up that red carpet, and showing them the door. So, the |                  |                 |                                      |                         |                                       |                    |  |                 |                      |  | border
|          |  |                  |                 |                                      |                         |                                       |                    |  |                 |                      |  |

Which words do you expect Donald Trump to say near the word IMMIGRATION?

southern

Mexico

crisis

fence

barrier

chain

merit-based

Windows Help e ag ^ 20 ady on those sensitive issues like terrorism and immigration? And, Prime Minister Trudeau, while only in its infancy 2 ture must include a great focus on terrorism and immigration, as well as threats from Russia and on NATOÖs 22 I called for nearly a year ago at my inauguration speech and immigration speech — both — the immigration speech taking place 23 I called for nearly a year ago at my inauguration speech and immigration speech -- both -- the immigration speech taking place 24 in addressing MS-13 is collaboration, intelligence sharing, and immigration enforcement. Collaboration across the spectrum, 25 Newshour. THE PRESIDENT: Good. Q On national security and immigration, can you give us more details on the executive order 26 : One of the things we spoke about was the fact that security and immigration need to work very well together. And certainly Canada 27 to the field, with specific directions to focus on violent crime and immigration. And we will continue to use our robust criminal 28 legislation, court decisions, as well congestion in the asylum and immigration court processes that my colleagues here will give you 29 as well. It's all connected. With respect to the other three, any immigration program that has little to no selectivity is going to 30 ICE officers. We don't want them out making vehicle stops, asking immigration questions. What we want them to do is give federal 31 bill that's submitted because I think we should have merit-based immigration like they have in Canada, like they have in Australia. 32 proposal. As a candidate, I campaigned on creating a merit-based immigration system that protects U.S. workers and taxpayers -- crooks, I don't want "bad hombres." I want to get a merit-based immigration system to make sure we can succeed in the 21st know what this means. We are here today to advance bipartisan immigration reform that serves the needs of the American families, came through a visa lottery. It is time to create a merit-based immigration system that makes sense for a modern economy world, like Canada, Australia and many others, have a merit-based immigration system. (Applause.) It's a basic principle that those tell you, we're going to start looking at, very seriously, merit-based immigration. We have to do it, because we need people. We — look, it's very simple. What we are demanding is merit-based immigration. We want people that are going to help our country.

take us 15 minutes, and then we're going to get on to much bigger immigration reform because we should do that. We should do that.

thinking most about. Q Mr. President, on the DACA wall, a bigger immigration deal, are you saying you would only consider a

patterns clusters filenames follow up source text notes

33

34

35

36

37

38

39

40

Windows Help tings

t a lot of different things having to do with illegal immigration. What should happen is the Democrats should pass nt the flow of narcotics, human trafficking, illegal immigration that has so beset our country now for more than a border to prevent the flow of narcotics, human trafficking, illegal immigration that has so beset our country now for more than a , a short period of time -- has brought record reductions to illegal immigration. Record reductions. (Applause.) Down 61 percent also made it clear that America's borders are now closed to illegal immigration, to illegal drug and illicit drugs, and anyone who dares at everything, Phil, that you can look at when it comes to illegal immigration. We have people that are trying to get into our country family and has mourned their son's loss alongside them. Illegal immigration produces tragedies every day: human smuggling, drug to address something you've been reading a lot about: the illegal immigration crisis on our southern border. It's been going on for talked to some elected officials who had the impression that illegal immigration on our southern border was down. And, frankly, a lot of differences. They're weak on crime, they're weak on illegal immigration. They want the illegal folks to come pouring into our

Remarks by President Trump on the Illegal Immigration Crisis and Border Security IMMIGRATION Issued on e ag ^

to enforce our laws on the interior, as well, to decrease the illegal immigration that will inevitably encourage overstays. The President us all, but also are determined to eliminate and stop illegal immigration, along with the drugs and the harm that that causes. , Democrats in Congress not only oppose our efforts to stop illegal immigration and crack down on Sanctuary Cities – now they are our immigration officers the resources they need to stop illegal immigration and also to stop visa overstays. And, crucially, the following the issuance of my executive orders, illegal immigration on our southern border fell by an unprecedented 40 . Americans have endured decades of broken promises on illegal immigration. Now, is the time for both parties to rise above the of Arizona. He's very strong on borders, very strong on illegal immigration. He is loved in Arizona. I thought he was treated the greatest impact of any administration I've ever seen on illegal immigration, so we're grateful for that. You also might have noticed that. So here are just a few statistics on the human toll of illegal immigration. According to a 2011 government report, the arrests to our progress in this area. But to further stem the flow of illegal immigration and illegal drugs into the United States, President

patterns | clusters | filenames | follow up | source text | notes

Cor

12

12

123

124

125

126

127

128

129

130

131

132

133

134

135

136

137

138

139

140

141

ettings Windows Help beople from the harshest consequences of illegal immigration and the transnational drug trade. This President has people from the harshest consequences of illegal immigration and the transnational drug trade. At the President's 144 our frontline border agents about the tremendous flood of illegal immigration, drug trafficking, human trafficking — a phenomena that 145 is that the tremendous economic and financial burdens of illegal immigration fall on the shoulders of low-income Americans, 146 our society in excess of $700 billion. The sheer volume of illegal immigration has overwhelmed federal authorities and stretched our 147 , by far, of our broken system. This is the tragic reality of illegal immigration on our southern border. This is the cycle of human 148 humanitarian challenges that you face with this rising tide of illegal immigration so much comprised of families and unaccompanied 149 people are convinced that we will stop future flows of illegal immigration, we will make no progress on dealing with the millions 150 . No good, no good. Going to stop. By stopping the flow of illegal immigration, we will save countless tax dollars, and that's so 151 communities, I haven't had anything personal from the ICE of illegal immigration yet, but I know it's coming, because we can't enforce 152 gathered today to hear directly from the American victims of illegal immigration. You know, you hear the other side. You never hear 153 away from the poorest Americans who need them most. Illegal immigration costs our country billions and billions of dollars each 154 : And because of these loopholes, it continues to drive more illegal immigration. It entices more families and children to come. THE 155 massive backlog even worse. A It will also encourage more illegal immigration to the United States, to the benefit of ruthless 156 regarding the crisis on our southern border — and crisis it is. Illegal immigration affects the lives of all Americans. Illegal immigration 157 in military spending. We've achieved a record reduction in illegal immigration. Did you see at the southern border? Seventy-five 158 place tough new ethics rules; achieving a record reduction in illegal immigration on our southern border; or bringing jobs, plants, and 159 a period of time. Last month, we saw a 64% reduction in illegal immigration on our southern border. At the same time, we are 160 the right thing for our country. Okay? Q Mr. President, if illegal immigration at the border has gone down, why is it a crisis now? 161 We seek to destroy the gangs and criminal networks, to halt illegal immigration. And lastly, we're working to stop the flow of illegal 162 we can. We have the worst laws anywhere in the world for illegal immigration. There's no place in the world that has laws like we do. filenames follow up source text notes concordance collocates plot patterns clusters

410

Set

https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=OenMJ_eMw_E

Windows Help Set Tag V ∧ 362 n system that we inherited under control. The current level of net immigration into the UK of 200,000 a year-2 million over a decade-is too high. It needs to be brought down, but 363 ment. But if we say we want freedom of movement for jobs but no immigration into the social security systems in Europe then I think we need to come to a definition. And this 364 the reduction of it. And the second one is the promise to reduce immigration into the tens of thousands rather than the hundreds of thousands; that appears not to be in your 365 security if we try to generate growth and jobs, but not by having immigration into social systems. That is just as much of a headache for us in Germany as it is for the British 366 f movement that I would have. So, that's what we need to say; is immigration into social security possible? Is it there? No country in Europe will be able to withstand such an 367 ? The Prime Minister: I know that my hon. Friend the Minister for Immigration is working extremely hard on that issue. We all want the same thing, which is to ensure that 368 the UK Border Agency, and established three new operational commands. One of which, UK Visas and Immigration, is the command responsible for making millions of decisions every year about who has the right 369 for controlling immigration. You're being accused of going soft on the ambition that you have to control immigration. Is that right? Prime Minister No. If I take the 2 points of the guestion that you asked, first of all 370 approach to immigration. Indeed, one of the problems that government has had in the past when it comes to immigration is that it's been working in silos. Controlling immigration has been a job for the Home Office, but 371 reflecting our openness as an economy and society, our liberalism and our tolerance. So managed well, immigration is something that can bring great benefits. But managed poorly, it is something that can cause 372 Today I want to talk about the challenge we face and set out the context in which we are taking our decisions. Immigration is out of control Net inward migration in the last year was nearly 200,000. Between 1997 and 2009 373 somehow all will be well. The third view that we need to confront is the idea that a successful plan to control immigration is only about immigration policy and immigration controls. A modern immigration plan is not just 374 will be well. Education Now the third view that we need to confront is the idea that a successful plan to control immigration is only about immigration policy and immigration controls. A modern immigration plan is not just 375 . I think that is the right answer, but Scotland and Wales have to make their own decisions. Question Immigration is one of the top issues facing today's society. It is estimated that Labour let in over three million. 376 problem is and I know this is an issue that people feel really passionately about and I know the debate around immigration is not always a healthy one. It often swings between extremes, between those who argue 377 an immigration system that does not work in the national interest. But to say we want to reduce and control immigration is not to say that we want no immigration. We have always been clear that we want Britain to 378 and help prevent Article 8 of the European Convention on Human Rights being misinterpreted. Now, of course immigration is not just about people coming to live here for a while. Some will want to settle and then join us 379 UK and I will have an opportunity later this evening to take forward those discussions. Question If European immigration is not to be controlled by a points-based system, more than 2 months after the referendum, can 380 will create new British jobs, because we are in a global race for our economic future. And the right sort of immigration is not just good for Britain – it is. I would argue, essential. But we can't allow immigration to be a 381 all the forms of immigration, ensure that you're dealing with any potential abuse in the system. Dealing with immigration is not a one-off action that you take, it's something that you constantly have to be looking at. 382 most sudden and sustained increase in immigration will suffer the most. The third reason we need to control immigration is its effects on jobs and wages. Again, when we arrived in government, we found that the official 383 Allowing more and more immigration would make that impossible. The second reason we need to control immigration is its impact on infrastructure and public services. It seems obvious that immigration should have we should distrust those who sell the snake oil of simple solutions. There are no simple solutions, Managing immigration is hard, not only here but in every developed country - certainly in Europe, Look at Italy where 384 385 We should distrust those who sell the snake oil of simple solutions. There are no simple solutions, Managing immigration is hard. Not only here. But in every major developed economy. Certainly in Europe, Look at Italy, 386 a year or more going back for around a decade now. And people want us and I want us to control immigration. Immigration is good for the country. It is good that people come and work here and make their home here and 387 here, especially students who wish to get a British education? Prime Minister: Well, first of all, let me say, immigration is good for Britain. The fact that people want to come and work here and come and make a living 388 And those who passionately want Britain to leave, they will say, "It is impossible, and the only way to control immigration is for the United Kingdom to leave the European Union". On this, at least they would agree. To 389 migration. We've shut down the bogus colleges that were a front for illegal immigration. And today, net immigration is down by more than a third. The number of immigrants coming to the UK is lower than it has 390 over the last year has benefited British workers, not migrant workers as has happened in the past. Net immigration is down by one quarter in a single year. The visa statistics suggest further falls in net immigration 391 on the doorstep, where - after years of pressure on living standards and worries about jobs and housing - immigration is deeply unpopular. But the answer I give, plagiarising my predecessor Lord Mandelson, is that I familiae as wall as athnic minority communities and recent immigrants themselves. So uncontrolled, mass immigration is damaging to social cohesion, nuts pressure on public services and infrastructure, and can lead 392 patterns clusters filenames follow up source text notes collocates plot .... ut in place the new immigration system required to . Set ontext in which we are taking our decisions. Immigration is out of control Net inward migration in the last year is the idea that a successful plan to control immigration is only about immigration policy and immigration controls is the idea that a successful plan to control immigration is only about immigration policy and immigration controls ave to make their own decisions. Question Immigration is one of the top issues facing today's society. It is

376

Windows Help

}e'a^

people feel really passionately about and I know the debate around immigration is not always a healthy one. It often swings between in the national interest. But to say we want to reduce and control immigration is not to say that we want no immigration. We have Convention on Human Rights being misinterpreted. Now, of course immigration is not just about people coming to live here for a while. evening to take forward those discussions. Question If European immigration is not to be controlled by a points-based system, more we are in a global race for our economic future. And the right sort of immigration is not just good for Britain – it is, I would argue, you're dealing with any potential abuse in the system. Dealing with immigration is not a one-off action that you take, it's something that immigration will suffer the most. The third reason we need to control immigration is its effects on jobs and wages. Again, when we would make that impossible. The second reason we need to control immigration is its impact on infrastructure and public services. It oil of simple solutions. There are no simple solutions. Managing immigration is hard, not only here but in every developed country – oil of simple solutions. There are no simple solutions. Managing immigration is hard. Not only here. But in every major developed now. And people want us and I want us to control immigration. Immigration is good for the country. It is good that people come and get a British education? Prime Minister: Well, first of all, let me say, immigration is good for Britain. The fact that people want to come to leave, they will say, "It is impossible, and the only way to control immigration is for the United Kingdom to leave the European Union". colleges that were a front for illegal immigration. And today, net immigration is down by more than a third. The number of immigrants workers, not migrant workers as has happened in the past. Net immigration is down by one quarter in a single year. The visa pressure on living standards and worries about jobs and housing - immigration is deeply unpopular. But the answer I give, plagiarising

377

378

379

380

381

382

383

384

385

386

387

388

389

390

391

392

and recent immigrants themselves. So uncontrolled, mass immigration is damaging to social cohesion, puts pressure on public

Thanks for listening!

denise.milizia@uniba.it www.denisemilizia.com