Summary Assistant Professor of Criminal law and criminology at the University of Bari in Italy. She did her PhD in Criminal Law and Organized Crime at the University of Bari in Italy (2004). Her first book argued the corporate liability in Italy (Cacucci, 2005). As Visiting Distinguish Researcher at School of Law of Birmingham U.K. (2007) M. Antonella Pasculli examined the comparative tendencies characterizing the corporate criminal liability under the supervision of Stephen Shute, Professor of Criminal Law and Criminal Justice. She has been awarded an International-Fellowship for experienced researchers at Top Research Course Marie Curie at the Campus Den Haag Grotius, Centre for International Legal Studies, under the supervision of proff. C. Stahn and L. van den Herik, with the presentation of research proposal on “the fragmentation and the diversification of international criminal law in a global society”(20-31 October 2008/ March 2009). M. Antonella Pasculli ’s main research interests are in the field of international criminal law, organized crime and gender studies with multidisciplinary profiles. She has written a second book on the topic of Universal Jurisdiction (Studio sulla giurisdizione penale universale, CEDAM, 2011, 2nd ed. 2013, finalist awarded at Premio nazionale di divulgazione scientifica, 2014). Her research areas also include Gender Studies and Neuroscience. She worked in the International group research, (www.neurohumanitiesstudies.it), publishing a third monograph Neuroscienze e giustizia penale, Aracne 2012. Furthermore, the variety and complexity of the subjects she has tackled is noteworthy, as many of them concern issues raised for the very first time in Italy (such as the relationship between restorative justice and universal justice, or the impact of neurosciences on criminal law theory), which means that her works are the first of this kind to be published in Italy.

Actually she is Erasmus Academic Coordinator (ERASMUS PLUS Programme 2014-2020) at University of A' Coruna (Spain), at University of Valencia (Spain), at University of Zagreb (Croatia), at University of Jaen (Spain), at University of Athens (Greece). Recent academic activities:
