

COURSE SYLLABUS

Academic Year 2021-2022

Principali informazioni sull'insegnamento/Infos on the course
Titolo insegnamento/Course title	Migrations, borders and human rights
Corso di studio/Programme	Relazioni internazionali e studi europei
Crediti formativi/ECT	8
Denominazione in italiano	Migrazioni, confini e diritti umani
Obbligo di frequenza/Class attendance	Highly recommended
Lingua di erogazione/Language	English

Docente responsabile/Teacher
Nome Cognome/Name	Indirizzo mail/E-mail address
Giuseppe Campesi	giuseppe.campesi@uniba.it

Dettaglio crediti formativi/ETC
Ambito disciplinare/Field of study	SSD/Subfield	Crediti/ECT
Law and Society	IUS/20	8

Organizzazione della didattica/Course organisation
Periodo di erogazione/Course semester	First
Anno di corso/Programme year	First
Modalità di erogazione/Theaching method	Standard lecture

Organizzazione della didattica/Course organisation
Ore totali/Overall number of hours
Ore di corso/Number of hours in class	64
Ore di studio individuale/

Calendario/Course timetable
Inizio attività didattiche/From	September 2022
Fine attività didattiche/To	December 2022

Syllabus
Presentation/Presentazione	Migrations are one of the key social phenomena in contemporary global societies and are rapidly reshaping established ideas of membership and belonging typical of modern nation states. In spite of being ordinary members of contemporary societies, migrants are still seen with suspicion

	in many destination countries, while migration policies have become increasingly restrictive over the years. The outcome of this effort to limit human mobility is nonetheless highly questionable. While economic and forced migrations are still on the rise, due to persistent regional geo-economic imbalances and geo-political instability, border control policies are putting a strain on established principles of human rights and asylum law. Western countries are thus faced with the challenge of striking a balance between a well-managed migration, and the duty to respect human rights of migrants and refugees. A challenge that has become particularly difficult along the fault-line of the contemporary geopolitics of migration, where migratory pressure increases and border control policies turn into violent practices. The course will address these topics from the perspective of different field of studies such as law, sociology and political theory, focusing on how EU and domestic policies are redefining the relationships between migration, borders and human rights in the Euro-Mediterranean region.
Prerequisiti/Prerequisites	None
Risultati di apprendimento previsti/Learning outcomes	Students will acquire knowledge of the main social theory of migration, knowledge of the main trends in contemporary migration law and policies, and a critical understanding of the social and political dynamics driving border control practices. They will also develop a peculiar ability to understand the implications of contemporary border control practices for the protection of the human rights of migrants and refugees. Students will be constantly stimulated to debate and critical discussion. During the course they will also be invited to carry out small researches on related topics and present them orally during 'class discussion' sessions.
Contenuti di insegnamento/Course content	The course can ideally be divided in two main sections during which eight main topics will be addressed. The first section (topics 1 to 4) will offer a general introduction to the social theory of migration, and an overview on migration law and policies in contemporary societies. The second section (topics 5 to 8) will focus on the changing nature of borders and will describe the most recent developments in border control practices across main destination countries.

Programma/Topics
Programma/Topics	The course will address the following eight topics: <ol style="list-style-type: none"> 1. Defining migration 2. Migration and social theory 3. Contemporary migrations: trends and perspectives 4. Contemporary global migration law and politics 5. Borders and social theory 6. Migrations, borders and security 7. Contemporary border control practices 8. Border control and human rights
Testi di riferimento/Required readings	Topic 1 <ul style="list-style-type: none"> - Bartram, D., Poros, M., and Monforte, P. (2014). Key Concepts in Migration. Sage, London, New York. Chapter 2. - Koser, Khalid (2007), International Migration. A Very Short Introduction. Oxford University Press, Oxford, Chapter 2. Topic 2

- Massey, Douglas S., Joaquim Arango, Graeme Hugo, Ali Koiaouci, Adela Pellegrino, and Edward Taylor (2005) Worlds in Motion. Understanding International Migration at the end of the Millennium. Oxford: Oxford University Press. Chapter 2.
- Castles, Stephen, Mark J. Miller and Hein de Haas (2013), The Age of Migration. International Population Movements in the Modern World, Palgrave MacMillan, London. Chapter 2.

Topic 3

- United Nations (2018), International Migration Report 2017. Highlights (New York: Department of Economic and Social Affairs).

Topic 4

- Schindlmayr, Thomas (2003) "Sovereignty, Legal Regimes, and International Migration." International Migration 41(2): 109-23.
- Betts, A. and L. Kainz. 2017. The History of Global Migration Governance. Oxford: Oxford Refugee Studies Center Working Paper Series, No. 122.

Topic 5

- Rumford, Cris (2006) "Theorizing Borders." European Journal of Social Theory 9(2): 155-69.
- Vaughan-Williams, Nick (2009) Border Politics. The Limits of Sovereign Power. Edinburgh: Edinburgh University Press. Chapter 2.

Topic 6

- Huysmans, Jef (2000) "The European Union and the Securitization of Migration." Journal of Common Market Studies 38(5):751-77.
- Bigo, Didier (2002) "Security and Immigration: Toward a Critique of the Governmentality of Unease." Alternatives: Global Local Political 27:63-92.

Topic 7

- Weber, Leanne, and Benjamin Bowling (2004) "Policing Migration: A Framework for Investigating the Regulation of Global Mobility." Policing and Society 14(3):195-212.
- Menjivar, Cecilia. 2014. "Immigration Law Beyond Borders: Externalizing and Internalizing Border Controls in an Era of Securitization." Annual Review of Law and Social Science 10(1):353-69.

Topic 8

- Carrera, Sergio, and Nicholas Hernanz. 2015. "Re-Framing Mobility and Identity Controls: The Next Generation of the EU Migration Management Toolkit." Journal of Borderlands Studies 30(1):69-84.
- Gammeltoft-Hansen, Thomas, and Hathaway, James C. (2014). "Non-refoulement in a World of Cooperative Deterrence." Columbia Journal of Transnational Law, 53: 235-284.

Metodi didattici/Teaching Methods	Class sessions are organized around eight main topics and accompanied by one or more readings that students are expected to read before the relevant session. The detailed class schedule will be delivered during the introductory session, and then published on the course web-page. Required readings will be made available to students in PDF format. A list of selected further readings will be provided in class for each topic, from which students are expected to select one paper and present it during 'class discussion' sessions.
Metodi di valutazione/Assessment methods	Oral examination
Criteri di valutazione/Assessment criteria	During the course, students' active participation to the discussion and attitude to critically engage with the topics presented will be constantly assessed. Their ability to carry out small researches and present the relevant results in class will be also assessed during specifically dedicated 'class discussion' sessions. During the final examination, students should prove their familiarity with the course contents, showing in particular their knowledge of the main trends in contemporary migration law and policies and a critical understanding of the social and political dynamics driving current border control practices.
Composizione Commissione esami di profitto/Assesment commission	Giuseppe Campesi (President) Ivan Pupolizio