

WELLA INTERNSHIPS IN SALES/TRADE MARKETING

Join OUR TEAM today and be part of a growing company on an exciting journey to become one of the largest beauty businesses in the world with an enviable portfolio of innovative, leading edge brands designed to delight, inspire and bring confidence to our consumers. Brands such as Wella Professional, Sebastian Professional, Londa Professional and Sassoon Professional are just a selection from our diverse portfolio.

Sales/Trade Marketing is the biggest and more important function in Wella. We work with customers to align strategies, exchanging capabilities, competencies and assets so both companies achieve turnover, market share and profitability higher than they could do separately.

In Sales we act as a strategic consultant, working with customers on the biggest brands in Italy. This enables us to grow business by working as a partner with our customers leveraging on our superior market/category knowledge and a multifunctional approach.

As Trade Marketing, we design “go to market strategy” to deliver brand objectives, and develop with customers programs which will build the business for them and us. We develop assortment, shelving, pricing, and promotion strategies, based on consumer research that gives us insight into what drives shopper purchase behavior.

As an intern in our Wella Sales/Trade Marketing function you'll be part of a creative, dynamic and multi-disciplinary business team. You will work bringing your unique perspective and growing expertise to deliver the best possible results whilst learning from those around you..
